

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A hybrid vehicle drive control apparatus including an electric generator mechanically connected to an engine so as to have a differential rotation with respect to the engine, a generator brake for mechanically stopping a rotation of the generator and a controller that gradually decreases a generator torque while engaging the generator brake.